Empowering Autistic Children

At ARCL, we remain committed to nurturing the potential of children with autism by providing them with a structured, supportive, and engaging environment. Our activities focus on social development, creative expression, hands-on learning, and parental guidance, ensuring a holistic approach to their growth.

Art Class – Encouraging Creativity and Self-Expression

Our little artists explored their creativity through art, an essential medium for self-expression. Art therapy not only enhances fine motor skills but also serves as a communication bridge for non-verbal children, helping them convey emotions and thoughts.

Group Activities – Building Friendships and Social Skills

Through structured group activities, children learn the importance of teamwork, communication, and cooperation. These interactions help improve social adaptability, emotional intelligence, and confidence, enabling them to form meaningful friendships.

Celebrating 6 Years of Success – A Journey of Dedication

ARCL proudly marked six years of dedication towards autism awareness and support. We deeply appreciate our staff members for their unwavering commitment to making a difference. With continued efforts, we strive to enhance our programs and provide even better support for children with autism and their families.

Doctor Checkup Role-Play – Making Real-Life Experiences Less Intimidating

Role-playing is an essential method of helping children understand real-world experiences. Through our doctor checkup role-play sessions, children become familiar with medical environments in a fun and non-threatening way, reducing anxiety and promoting confidence.

Interactive Parental Guidance Session – Sensory Integration in Autism

We held an interactive lecture for parents, where our consultant occupational therapist, Ms. Wajeeha, provided valuable insights on the importance of sensory integration for children with autism and other developmental disorders. This session equipped parents with essential strategies to support their child's sensory needs at home and in daily life.
